Discussing trends, successes and challenges in serving schools, community and families.

In 2023, CSC Director Shileste Overton Morris began hosting monthly discussions with subject experts from CSC and beyond to examine issues facing schools, communities and families and understand how CSC is transforming lives. Conversations addressed topics such as “Supporting School Resource Officers” (February), “A Strengths-based Approach to Child Well-being” (April); and “Supporting Migrant Students’ Academic Success” (June). In 2022-2023, there were more than 400 views of the Discussions with the Director videos. #ServiceToOthers

Building leadership among Nita M. Lowey 21st Century Community Learning Center staff.

Pennsylvania’s Nita M. Lowey 21st Century Community Learning Centers (21CCLC) provide academic, artistic and cultural enrichment opportunities for children, particularly students who attend high-poverty and low-performing schools. The Pennsylvania Department of Education’s Excellence in Leadership Certification course builds leaders in 21CCLCs to effectively lead and motivate others, create and maintain a positive workplace culture, demonstrate emotional intelligence, and overcome leadership challenges. Including the nine graduates of the course in 2023, CSC has graduated 79 leaders since 2020. #PassionForExcellence

Finding common ground to support student and educator well-being.

Nearly 300 educators, counselors and administrators attended the 2023 National Social and Emotional Learning Conference to explore strategies to help students practice self-awareness, self-discipline and healthy relationships to promote student academic and mental well-being. One attendee shared, “This was a fantastic workshop both for concept and big thinking to hands-on activities. Would recommend it to anyone working in schools.” #EquityInAction

Successfully shifting Parent Cafes from virtual to in-person.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, many Parent Cafes shifted to online. Parent Cafes are fun parent and caregiver-centered events that engage participants in important discussions about what matters most to their families and strategies that support the use of Strengthening Families Protective Factors to help their families thrive. In order to support more than 75 local Parent Cafe teams across Pennsylvania, the Family Support team delivered three in-person Cafe Crossover workshops to prepare teams to shift to delivering Parent Cafes in person. Feedback from the course was positive, with one participant noting “Interactive activities provided hands-on learning, The group dynamics was great. Trainers—awesome!” #ServiceToOthers

Hosting the first Pennsylvania Refugee Education Summit.

Center for Schools and Communities coordinated the Pennsylvania Department of Education’s first Refugee Education Training Summit for more than 200 educators. Presenting organizations included the U.S. Committee for Refugees and Immigrants; Child Trends (one of the nation’s leading research organizations on children and youth); and organizations committed to the education of refugee children and youth such as Global Village Project and Switchboard. #EquityInAction

These products and services are designed to meet client needs and strengthen systems that support positive outcomes for children, youth, families and communities.

Managing and upgrading data systems to support services to families.

Each year, schools, community organizations and families must provide information to the commonwealth to receive eligible services. Center for Schools and Communities designed and manages data systems for Pennsylvania's home visiting programs (Parents as Teachers, Children's Trust Fund, Strengthening Families), Education Leading to Employment and Career Training (ELECT), and Pandemic Electronic Benefit Transfer (P-EBT), housing more than 1,524,459 school, community, family and student records. In 2022-2023, CSC upgraded the ELECT data system to increase security and streamline data management. #InnovationForGrowth

Sharing best practices, stories of homelessness and hope.

In partnership with the Pennsylvania Department of Education, CSC's Education for Children and Youth Experiencing Homelessness (ECYEH) team launched the "I Will Be Your Voice: Stories of Homelessness and Hope" podcast in March 2023. Hosts have conversations with practitioners and thought leaders about successes and challenges in supporting students experiencing homelessness. The goal of the podcast is to help practitioners better serve their communities in supporting students and families experiencing homelessness. In 2022-23, episodes were downloaded 423 times. #EquityInAction

Creating professional learning space for educators to engage in critical analysis to increase outcomes for multilingual learners.

Approximately 800 educators, administrators and others from 30 different states and seven countries registered for the 2022 English Language Development Professional Learning Conference: Increasing Opportunities, Advancing Equity. Themes included instructional practices, education data use, educational policy and leadership, and social justice education. Keynote presenters were especially popular, including Helaine W. Marshall, Ph.D., professor of education and director of Language Education Programs, Long Island University – Hudson Campus, who discussed reframing the conversation about SLIFE: achievement gap or cultural dissonance? #EquityInAction

Celebrating a champion who helps children learn how to think.

Center for the Promotion of Social and Emotional Learning and I Can Problem Solve awarded Alice Ray, co-founder and board chair of Ripple Effects, the 2023 Myrna B. Shure Lifetime Achievement Award. “All parents want their kids to feel safe, they want them to feel like they belong, and they want them to have competency skills to navigate their way in the world, a world that is changing faster than it’s ever changed before,” stated Ray when receiving the award at the 2023 National Social and Emotional Learning Conference. “[Social and emotional learning is simply] giving kids the skills and the relationship sturdiness, the frameworks to thrive, period.” #InnovationForGrowth

Ranking among best in the nation for Parents as Teachers programs.

As the state office for the Pennsylvania Parents as Teachers (PAT) program, CSC develops, supports and sustains high quality PAT Affiliate programs in the commonwealth. Research by the Parents as Teachers National Center demonstrates that affiliates supported by strong state offices tend to meet more essential requirements than those without state offices. In fact, its Parents as Teachers annual Affiliate Performance Report indicated that Pennsylvania’s 55 PAT affiliates met the highest number of model essential requirements compared to other states’ programs that also have a state office. #PassionForExcellence
